

Aviva Orenstein received her A.B. (summa cum laude 1981) and J.D. (magna cum laude 1986) from Cornell, and served as an articles editor of the Cornell Law Review. She clerked for the late Honorable Edward R. Becker, Chief Judge for the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Orenstein is admitted to practice law in New Jersey and Indiana, and has worked on various pro bono projects, involving children's rights and family law. She directed the Legal research and Writing Program at Rutgers-Camden consults on legal writing. Her scholarly interests concern the intersection of evidence law and culture, and she has published articles in California Law Review, Cornell Law Review, Fordham Law Review, and Indiana Law Journal, among others. Orenstein occasionally writes a column for her local newspaper and lectures on Jewish humor.
