

Deborah Pearce practices law in New Orleans, Louisiana, focusing primarily on trial development and preservation of error, and appellate practice and procedure. Ms. Pearce currently serves on the Board of Governors for the Fifth Circuit Bar Association and formerly served on the Board of Directors for the New Orleans Federal Bar Association. She assumed the Presidency of the Fifth Circuit Bar Association for the years 2004-2006, and the National Chairpersonship for the Appellate Section of the Federal Bar Association in 2002. Ms. Pearce has been the Reporter of Appellate Jurisdiction and Procedure for the Fifth Circuit Reporter since 1996, and teaches Appellate Law and Advocacy as an adjunct professor at Tulane Law School, as well as at numerous seminars state- and circuit-wide. Ms. Pearce is an AV-rated attorney, has been voted an appellate “Super Lawyer” for several consecutive years, and was recently included in the Cambridge Who’s Who of Executive and Professional Women. Ms. Pearce received her B.A. degree from the University of New Orleans and her J.D. degree from Tulane University. She graduated summa cum laude and Order of the Coif, with a 3.9 grade point average, and was voted the Top Civil Law Graduate of her class by the Louisiana State Bar Association. Deborah Pearce has received numerous writing and jurisprudential awards, and is widely published in the area of appellate practice and procedure. She is admitted to practice before the Federal Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Tenth, and Eleventh Circuit Courts of Appeals, all Louisiana Federal District Courts, the Federal District Court of Colorado, the Federal District Courts for the Northern and Southern Districts of Texas, as well as all Louisiana state courts. Ms. Pearce can be reached at federalappeals@cox.net