

Heidi Howat Thompson

Ms. Thompson is an Assistant Professor of Professional Practice at the LSU Law School, where she graduated Order of the Coif and was a member of the Louisiana Law Review. Thompson served as a research attorney for the Louisiana First and Second Circuit Courts of Appeal and as an attorney in private practice before becoming a full-time professor in 2001. She serves on The Redbook's Board of Editorial Advisers and the Kaplan Louisiana Bar Review faculty. Thompson has enjoyed the privilege of presenting on topics related to legal writing before local and national audiences. She has also created the Louisiana Practitioner Rules for Citation to Legal Authorities—a set of uniform citation rules—which can be used by law students, practitioners, and judges when citing to legal authorities in court documents.
